

Level Finder

"I am no better than the next trader, just quicker at realizing my losses and moving on to do the next trade."
-George Soros

Introduction – This level finder is unique algorithmic calculation to provide you the best possible support/resistance levels. This tool will help you to create long or short positions in the financial market with a very minimal risk. It will provide you an extra edge in your trading style.

❖ The only condition to maximize your return is, Trade with the high probability and low risk.

How it works – The working principle of the level finder is mass psychology. You can use this tool on any high liquid Stocks, Derivative, Currency, and Commodity. The uniqueness of the level finder support/resistance is that it is very difficult (more than 85%) for the market to break the ultimate levels in the valid time frame.

- ❖ The amazing fact is that if the breakout or breakdowns sustain in the market then the rise or the fall will increase in that particular time frame.
- ❖ Sustains means 30-40 Mints for daily timeframe, one day and one hour candle closing for weekly timeframe and two-three days closing for monthly timeframe.

Working of the Ultimate levels – Firstly, by putting Open, High, Low and Closed of the previous closed candle in level finder you will get the level finder support and resistance levels as given below, you should mark these levels on your chart during your trading as per below image.

Disclaimer – These levels are based on Mass psychology. So always ensure that you are using them in highly liquid tokens. Stock market is a probability game so always ensure that you have a stick stop loss for your trades. It will save your capital. We are not responsible for any of your losses.
